Bull Dog Players Enforce Own Training Rules

THINGS HAVE BEEN popping so fast the past few weeks that old Timotheus has not had time to settle down and write a column. A number of things have accumulated during the time and here are a few of them:

In the August issue of Fore, which contains lots of pictures of interest throughout the United States, is a picture of the tiny post office at Muddy, which is nine by 11 feet. Under the picture is this caption: "Reportedly smallest U. S. Post Office, this building at Muddy, Ill., is only nine by 11 feet. A busy place, it schedules three mail calls a day and serves some 150 persons in the Saline county village."

The magazine was sent me by Harker Miley.

Charles Cleveland, the Chicago Daily News reporter who came into southern Illinois and wrote so many fine articles about our area, has written the boss, Curtis Small, telling about the marvelous time he had and expressing the hope he'll have a chance to come back soon.

The Harrisburg high school football players have set up a list of training rules all by themselves, and they have a training rules committee which made the rules and will see that they are enforced.

On the committee were Don Biggs, Mickey Stone, Bill Yates, Bill Endsley, Gary Aldridge, Ray Hassett, Bud Logan, Don Uter and John Pickford. The latter two are not varsity players, Uter being a freshman and Pickford a sophomore.

Rules include:
No alcoholic beverage of any kind and no smoking.

Must be home at 9:30 p. m. school nights, at home and in bed by 8:30 p. m. nights before games, and home by midnight Friday and Saturday nights.

Certain spots declared off limits at all times.
Must cut down on carbonated drinks and candy between meals.

No profane language. No horseplay on field, at school or elsewhere. Will conduct themselves like gentlemen at all times.

All the boys took the pledge.

A Catskill, N. Y., farmer with a legitimate gripe has been quietly granted permission by the red-faceted state assembly to sue the state, reports the magazine Fleet Owner. The farmer's problem: in building the state thruway, engineers overlooked one small matter: The new road separated him from his outhouse and he had to drive four miles and pay a toll to reach it.

WE GROW 'EM BIGGER DEPT. Mrs. Mabel Pankey of Dorris Heights came in the office yesterday with a couple of beefsteaks. Beefsteak tomatoes, that is, and they weighed a pound and a half apiece. She grew them out at her place.

"I hoed them twice, then mulched them," she said of the six plants she put out. The tomatoes started getting bigger and bigger until the other day, when she returned from a 15-day vacation, she found a lot of big ripe ones and brought a couple to the office.

Harrisburg Man Is

Charged with Rape

At Hopkinsville, Ky.

A Christian county (Kentucky) grand jury at Hopkinsville today returned an indictment charging Dorman Stiff, 24, Harrisburg, with rape. He is being held without bond.

The sheriff's office at Hopkinsville said the charge involves Stiff with a 14-year-old Eldorado girl. He is charged with taking her into Christian county and with raping her there in August.

Deputy Sheriff Charles Donelson today took Ed Cawthon of Eldorado to the state farm at Vandalia, where Cawthon will serve a one-year term for resisting Eldorado police.

Cost of Living Climbs to New Record in August, Gov't Reports

WASHINGTON (AP)—Consumer prices climbed to a record high in August for the 12th consecutive month, the government announced today.

The Bureau of Labor statistics reported that its consumer price index—a monthly sampling of prices for 300 goods and services across the nation—stood at an all-time high of 121.

Learn of Death Of John H. King, Former Resident

Word has been received in Harrisburg of the death on Sept. 5 of John Harry King, 71, in Pemiscot Memorial hospital in Hayti, Missouri. He was a native of this city, the son of the late Robert and Ann Ingram King.

Mr. King was New Madrid county collector and county treasurer several years before his retirement.

In addition to his wife, whom he married on Nov. 16, 1909, he leaves three sons, John Harry Jr., of Fort Worth, Texas, Robert of New Madrid, and Jesse of Houston, Mo., and two daughters, Miss Helen King of Fort Worth, and Mrs. Glenda O'Kelley of Yuma, Arizona. He also leaves 21 grandchildren and two nieces, Mrs. Stephen Tedor, Lake Bluff, Ill., and Mrs. Carl Abernathy of California.

Funeral services were conducted at St. Eustachius Catholic church in Hayti, Mo., on Sept. 7. Interment was in the Portageville cemetery.

'Pedro' Froman Teaching in Air Force Dependent School at Bordeaux, France

Jimmy D. "Pedro" Froman, son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Froman, Dorris Heights, is at present teaching in an Air Force Dependent school at Bordeaux, France.

Although he had to agree to remain in France only until the close of the school term in June, 1958, Mr. Froman plans to stay until August and travel extensively through Europe. He has permission to travel anywhere in Europe, Communist countries excepted.

Mr. Froman left St. Louis Aug. 21 by airplane and arrived at Orly Air Force Base, Paris, France, on Aug. 23, with stops at McGuire AFB, New Jersey and Harmon Field, Newfoundland.

During a three-day visit in Paris "Pedro" visited such historical places as the Arch de Triumpe, the Eiffel Tower and the Place de Pigalle.

In a letter to his parents, "Pedro" told of his experiences in French cafes, where only wine is served with foods and states a waiter will only grudgingly bring a glass of water on request. A complete meal will require about two hours to serve and the waiter never forgets the various foods, but invariably forgets the water order.

The countryside is beautiful, similar to southern Illinois and the rural areas remind the visitor of American farms of twenty years ago before the horse was replaced by the tractor.

He is much impressed with the beauty of the cities, with the graceful Gothic architecture of a past era blending with the modern buildings erected since World War II.

Jimmy D. Froman

Bordeaux, Mr. Froman says, is the hub of southwest France. Its greatest claim to fame is the fine wines, along with the world renowned restaurants and the inland harbor.

The Bordeaux harbor was the hiding place of the German and Italian submarines during World War II.

At present the farmers in the Bordeaux area are picking their grapes for market and some of the grape arborers are as large as cornfields in southern Illinois.

Mr. Froman, who is on a year's leave of absence from his teaching position at Cahokia Commonfield high school, East St. Louis, will remain in Europe until August of 1958, then return to resume his teaching at Cahokia.

He is a 1951 graduate of Southern Illinois University.

Elect Thompson Head of County ASC Committee

Convention Held This Morning At the City Hall

Edgar V. Thompson of Brushy township was elected chairman of the Saline County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee at a county convention held this morning at the Harrisburg city hall.

Jess Rister of Kaleigh township was elected vice chairman, Nelson Fowler of Eldorado township committee member, Noble Gogue of Brushy township first alternate and John Adams of Mountain township second alternate. Retiring members are Herman Driskell of Mountain, chairman; L. M. Ragsdale of Cottage, vice chairman; and Gobel Dutton of Harrisburg, member.

The ASC committee acts on ASC policy. The ASC administers the government's price support, soil bank and conservation practices programs in Saline county. B. R. Gholson manages the offices under the supervision of the committee. The offices are in the Harrisburg city hall, where three girls are regularly employed.

The new members take office Oct. 1 and the organization meeting will be Oct. 4. The new chairman for years was office manager of the ASC in the county office.

Those who voted as delegates from the various townships this morning in selecting a committee were:

Raleigh, Eugene McConnell; Harrisburg, L. B. Malone; Stonefort, Ed Blackman; Rector, Elijah Craig; Independence, Robert Guley; Mountain, Robert DeNeal; Long Branch, Rex Pratt; Tate, Olen Williams; Galatia, Noble Gogue; Eldorado, Nelson Fowler; Cottage, Carl (Buddy) Densch; Carrier Mills, Herman Harris; Brushy, Edgar V. Thompson.

Arrest Man Found in Bed at Local Residence

Authorities today were checking to try to find out something about Michael Edward Paulus of Bremer-ton, Wash., found naked in the bedroom of a local residence last night.

He was arrested in a bedroom at the Charles Gilliam home at 202 East McIlraith street by City Policemen Isham Threest and Link Rann, who removed him to the city jail.

They said the man was in bed, naked, with the cover pulled up around him when they arrived.

"Don't pull the covers off—I don't have any clothes on," he told the officers. The policemen, when they got him out of bed, found a knife under the covers.

The police report said the man walked into the house and into the bedroom, that they found him in bed naked and asleep.

The report said all they could get out of him was that he had been riding with a truck driver, that he was not intoxicated but that he was acting funny. It said receipts in his clothing showed he had been staying in an Evansville, Ind., hotel.

Mrs. Gilliam, whose husband is engineer at WSIL-TV and who was at work, asked the man who he was when he walked into the house but he did not tell her, going on into the bedroom.

Mrs. Gilliam then ran to the nearby home of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Carter to tell them the man was there. Another neighbor, Si Jones, called police, who arrived shortly.

Rites At Creal Springs

The funeral of Robert C. Marks, 48, resident of Creal Springs who died Sunday, was held at 2 p. m. today in the McKinney chapel south of Marion. Burial was in the chapel cemetery.

Two Hornets Knock Out Driver

HERRIN, Ill. (AP)—Two hornets knocked out a driver Monday.

Police Chief Roy Cole said John Rolando was stung on the face and neck by the hornets. He managed to pull off a heavily traveled highway before getting out of his car and collapsing.

Rolando was treated for mild shock at a hospital.

Six Agitators Arrested by Arkansas Police

BULLETIN

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—An NAACP leader in Arkansas said today that nine Negro children will attend Central High School Wednesday if the National Guard, federalized by President Eisenhower, can start protecting them then.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Little Rock and state police seized and hauled away six agitators at Central High School today but nine Negroes who wanted to integrate the school failed to show up again for classes.

A spitting, blood-thirsty crowd, threatening to invade Central High forced school authorities to withdraw the students under police protection Monday three hours after they started classes.

Today's crowd totaled about 300 persons, a third the size of Monday's. The worst it did today was mutter. School attendance, after a walkout of about 450 students Monday, was back to normal. Two thousand white students attend Central.

Crowds started collecting again in front of the school at either ends of a barricaded street today. They suspected that the Negroes would try again to attend classes.

By 8 a. m. c.s.t., police had arrested six known agitators, some with knives. One was a well-known agitator named "Bickle."

"There is a man who gave us trouble yesterday," Night Police Chief Gene Smith said, as his men grabbed Bickle.

"Get me a writ," Bickle screamed at newsmen as police took him off.

Central High is the focal point of the worst integration dispute since the U. S. Supreme Court ordered integration in April, 1954.

City police, state and FBI agents investigated reports of racial violence all night and early today.

Police broke up gang fights on the streets and arrested 16 brawlers, 14 of them Negroes, in an attempt to prevent the incidents from spreading into a full-grown race riot.

FBI agents, working with city police and state troopers, broke up a caravan of about 100 automobiles of suspected night riders before they could reach the trouble centers.

Five persons were injured in one of the more serious brawls.

Second Annual Sidewalk Sales Thursday Will Be a Big Event

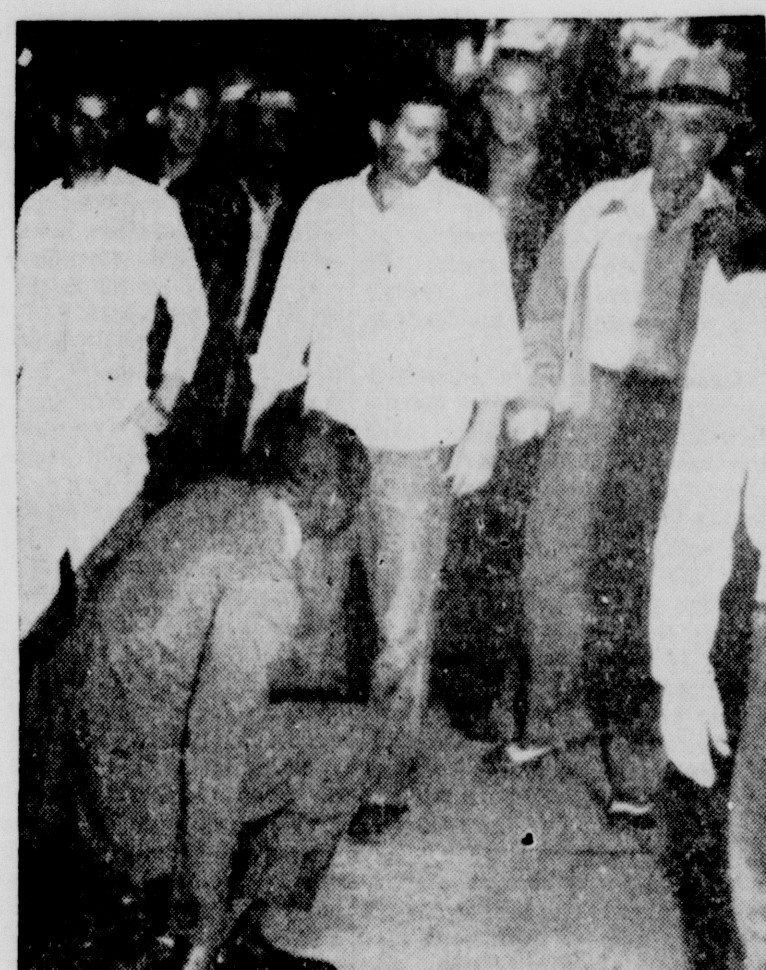

The big event that people have been asking about for a year will take place this week.

It's Harrisburg's big Sidewalk Sales, which will be Thursday and Thursday night on the sidewalks of uptown Harrisburg.

The First Annual Sidewalk Sales received greater acceptance from the public than any sales event in Harrisburg during the past decade.

And this year, after the experience gained in last year's event, the Second Annual Sidewalk Sales promises to be bigger and more colorful than the first one.

On this day merchants move their wares to the sidewalks and offer bargains that can't be turned down. Many merchants, who can-

Five Southern Governors Deplore Eisenhower Threat to Use Force

SEA ISLAND, Ga. (AP)—Five southern Democratic governors today deplored President Eisenhower's threat to use federal force in the Little Rock integration dispute.

Gov. Frank Clement of Tennessee, usually regarded as a moderate on the racial issue, said "I hope we will never see the day when federal troops will march against the law abiding citizens of any state."

Gov. Le Roy Collins of Florida, who called in a speech Monday for a progressive approach to the race issue, said he "could not believe that the President would call out the troops but if he did it would be a grave and grievous mistake."

Gov. Luther Hodges of North Carolina said if the troops report is true, "that would be bad." He said he hoped it was "not true."

Gov. Marvin Griffin of Georgia said flatly the Eisenhower action means that "the second Reconstruction of the South is now under way."

Well Completed, Another on Test

Breuer and Curran Oil company's Frank Hanesman No. 1, 480 feet north and 350 feet west of SEC, 9-8S-7E (Eldorado) made an oil well in the Aux Vases at 2921-27, with initial production 35 barrels of oil and five of water per day on flow through casing.

Testing the Aux Vases were the Fitch Bros. Ethel Abney No. 1, SW 1/4 Sec. 20, 20-8S-5E (Brushy) and C. E. Brehm's Ralph Smith No. 3, SW 1/4 Sec. 20, 20-8S-5E (Tate).

Dry and abandoned were Robinson Oil's G. Miller No. 1, NE 1/4 Sec. 20, 20-7S-6E (Long Branch) and T. M. Pruett's Charles A. Benson No. 1, NW 1/4 Sec. 21, 21-7S-6E (Long Branch).

Gov. George Bell Timmerman Jr. of South Carolina accused Eisenhower of "trying to set himself up as a dictator."

A militant states rights leader in Augusta, Ga., former U. S. Ambassador Hugh Grant, telegraphed Griffin urging him to hold the southern governors conference, now in its third day here, in session continuously until some firm stand is taken on the intensifying crisis over state versus federal sovereignty.

The racial question came up in speeches, round table discussions and hotel corridor conversation and Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas held forth as the dominant figure at the conference, commanding almost constant attention because of his role as staunch defender of states rights.

Mt. Vernon Youth Killed by Train

MOUNT VERNON, Ill. (AP)—A slow-moving Southern railway freight train struck and killed a Mount Vernon youth a few blocks from his home.

Jerry Faulkner, 13, was found lying on the rails Monday after the train passed.

Authorities said he may have tried to board the train.

chairman of Sidewalk Sales Day. "Each and every merchant in the organization has co-operated 100 per cent to make the Second Annual Sidewalk Sales a super-event. "Clerks will be in gala attire and will sell from the sidewalks in front of the stores," he continued. "Merchants have slashed prices drastically on most desirable items."

Mr. Gidcomb spoke of the carnival spirit that developed during last year's Sidewalk Sales, as people went from store to store, telling their friends what they had seen at the various business establishments.

Will Discuss School Crisis On TV Tonight

President Also Orders Use of Regular Forces if Necessary

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) said today that President Eisenhower's order authorizing use of Army troops if necessary in the Little Rock school crisis is "without authority of law." McClellan said it will cause more trouble than it solves.

NEWPORT, R. I. (UP)—President Eisenhower today ordered federalization of the Arkansas National Guard and planned to speed back to Washington for a nationwide TV speech to the people tonight on the Arkansas school crisis.

The President by executive order in addition to federalizing the state National Guard and the Arkansas Air National Guard, also authorized Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson to use any necessary regular armed forces of the United States to break up crowds in Little Rock resisting compliance with a school integration order.

The President planned to fly back to Washington late today and make a TV-radio appearance before the nation about 7 p. m. c.s.t. It will deal with his efforts to put down violence in Little Rock and enforce the Federal District Court order for integration of Central High School.

His executive order was based on the failure of the people of Little Rock to comply with his cease-and-desist order demanding an end to obstruction of justice and calling for compliance with the court's decisions.

The executive order directed the defense secretary to muster into active federal military service members of the Arkansas National Guard and the Air National Guard for "an indefinite period and until relieved by appropriate orders."

It was left up to Wilson when to carry out the orders, but since the President acted so swiftly, Wilson was expected to follow suit.

Wilson was directed to "take all appropriate steps" to enforce the orders of the district court "for the removal of obstruction of justice in the state of Arkansas with respect to matters relating to enrollment and attendance at public schools in... Little Rock."

Wilson was given authority to use, in addition to the National Guard, "such of the armed forces of the United States as he may deem necessary."

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said this meant Wilson could use National Guardsmen alone to enforce the court orders or use them in conjunction with regular federal troops.

The White House refuted assertions in some quarters that the President was without power to order troops into Little Rock to disperse mobs.

Hagerty said that under the U. S. code, in the sections cited in the President's proclamation, the President may call state militia into federal service or use members of the armed forces to put down rebellion against federal laws.

Oliver Smith Dies at Eldorado

Oliver Smith, 80, died at the Murray hotel in Eldorado at 1 a. m. today, where he had been living for two months. He was a retired coal miner and a former resident of Cabot, Ky., where he was a member of the Cabot Baptist church and I. O. O. F. lodge. He is survived by his son, Herman Smith, Joliet, his brothers, Lonnie Smith, Wasson and Everett Smith, Owensboro, Ky., and his sisters, Mrs. Minnie Cowan, Harco, Mrs. Nona Chancelor, Owensboro, Ky., and Mrs. Pearl Overton, Harvey.

The body will lie in state at the Bean and Tanner funeral home and the funeral will be in the chapel at 2 p. m. Thursday. Rev. Alvie Daily will officiate and burial will be in the Wolf Creek cemetery.

Peacetime Blockbuster

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

Take a long walk around town, counting houses as you go. When you get to about 110, stop counting. Then close your eyes and imagine that all the houses you counted were suddenly wiped off the neighborhood map.

In effect, that is exactly what happened in America over the Labor Day weekend. Only the damage wasn't concentrated in one city in one neighborhood but instead was spread around the country.

Altogether some 445 persons lost their lives in highway accidents.
If each four individuals were a family unit, living in a home, then 110 such places would today be standing empty, ready for the wreckers.

This is a harsh way to visualize the horror that took place on the recent holiday. But perhaps if it could be truly imagined in these terms, then there might be less fatalities to count the next time a holiday rolls around.

JACK ANDERSON Says:
Congress Will Crack Down On Cigarette Advertising; White House Tried Big Business
Pressure On Faubus; Air Force Hopes To Land Instruments On Moon.

WASHINGTON. — The House subcommittee which has been investigating the tobacco - cancer controversy will definitely crack down on cigarette advertising.

Chairman John Blatnik (D., Minn.) has ordered the staff to draft a strong report, scorching the Federal Trade Commission for its failure to protect the public from harmful cigarette advertising.

Blatnik rejected a proposed staff report that simply called on the FTC to consider the "scientific evidence" as to whether cigarettes cause lung cancer. He sternly ordered the staff to rewrite the report and put some teeth in it.

Meanwhile, another committee member, Congresswoman Martha Griffiths (D., Mich.), has asked the radio-television networks to offset their tobacco advertising by telling the other side of the story.
She wrote identical letters to the four big networks, which make millions from cigarette commercials.

"It is respectfully requested," she wrote, "that you authorize public service time on your network—radio and TV—for the United States Public Health Service to present its findings to the American public on the relation of smoking to lung cancer."

All except the Mutual Broadcasting System turned her down on the excuse that their news programs had already covered the public health findings. However,
Mrs. Griffiths hasn't given up.
She believes the networks have a duty to the public as well as to their commercial sponsors.

Mrs. Griffiths believes President Eisenhower himself should introduce Surgeon General Leroy Burney for a nation-wide report to the public on cancer and cigarettes.

NEWS NUGGETS

Pocketbook Pressure — The White House tried to bring financial pressure on Gov. Orval Faubus to settle the segregation crisis in Arkansas. So confided presidential spokesman Jim Hagerty the other day to friends. Ear-witnesses quote him as saying the White House counted on its big-business connections to break Faubus' resistance. Here's how it was supposed to work. Ike's Wall Street friends would bear down on Arkansas businessmen who could influence Faubus.

Moon Or Bust — The Air Force's plan to shoot a research rocket 4,- 000 miles into space will be a preliminary jump toward the moon

The Ford-built rocket will be launched from a balloon 20 miles above Eniwetok Atoll in the Pacific. By beefing up the rocket and using a larger balloon, Pentagon scientists hope to send the rocket the full 239,000 miles to the moon. They believe they can deliver scientific instruments on the moon by the end of next year.

No Pessimism Allowed — Secretary of State Dulles has hushed up trouble-shooter Loy Henderson's gloomy report on the Middle East. To disclose Henderson's findings, Dulles told subordinates, would only publicize Soviet successes. The public has a right to know, however, what Henderson reported. He warned that our three staunchest allies in the Arab world — Iraq, Jordan and Lebanon — are in grave danger of being overthrown by the Soviet-Syrian-Egyptian underground. Unless the United States acts urgently, he said, the West will wake up to find Russia firmly entrenched in the Middle East in a position to choke off oil to the West.

SEAWAY SABOTAGE
The railroad lobby is behind the move to transfer the St. Lawrence seaway project from the Army Engineers to the Commerce Department. This would permit Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks, past director of the Pullman company, to set the shipping tolls.

What the railroads hope to do is sabotage the seaway by setting the tolls so high that shipping companies can't afford to use it.
Then the railroads wouldn't have to worry about cargo ships competing with freight trains along the seaway route.

The Army Engineers are now in the middle of constructing the great canal. But the railroad lobby is pulling strings with Assistant President Sherman Adams to transfer the project to the Commerce Department before the tolls are fixed.

Adams has circulated a secret memo among cabinet officers to get their views on the proposed transfer. This has touched off a feud between Weeks, who favors the move, and Secretary of the Army Wilber Brucker, who is against it.

The final outcome depends on who can put the most pressure on President Eisenhower, who didn't even know what was going on until last week.

Note: The backstage wire-pulling has been done chiefly by Pennsylvania, New York Central, and Baltimore & Ohio railroads.
They fully expect Weeks to do their bidding if he ever gains control of the seaway. Not only is Weeks close to the railroad interests, but the railroads have long dominated the Commerce Department's transportation division through the Chamber of Commerce.

Cat Story
BOSTON—(UP)—Shortly after World War I, the now defunct Boston Post offered its readers pictures of its mascot, an alley cat named Hindy. Approximately 112,- 000 requests for pictures were filled. Some 20 years later the Post received a letter from a former reader in Shanghai, China. She had lost her picture of Hindy.
Could she have another? The Post obliged.

Miss Phyllis Ande, Don F. Drone Wed
In St. Joseph's Church at Ridgway

Miss Phyllis Ande
(Foster Studio Photo)

Miss Phyllis Ande, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip J. Ande, and Don F. Drone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter C. Drone, also of Ridgway, were married in a double-ring ceremony at St. Joseph's Catholic church, there at 8 a. m. Sept. 17. The Nuptial High Mass was read by the Rev. John Venegoni before the altar, decorated with baskets of white gladioli and greenery.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

She wore a waltz length wedding gown of imported Chantilly lace, and nylon tulle, fashioned with a back closing of tiny covered buttons on a fitted lace bodice, having a Sabrina neckline outlined with lace medallions and long sleeves pointed at the hands. The bouffant skirt was of alternating ruffles of lace and tulle. Her elbow length veil of illusion was secured to a lace cap, embroidered with pearlized sequins, and she carried a white orchid on her white prayer book.

Miss Janice Ande, sister of the bride, was her maid of honor and wore a ballerina length dress and net over taffeta, styled with a strapless bodice and full skirt, made of alternating bands of lace and net. Her headband was of hairbraid with a circular veil and she carried a colonial bouquet of asters and carnations.

Miss Judy Ande, sister of the bride, was her bridesmaid and wore a Nile green ensemble, duplicating that of the maid of honor in all details. Her bouquet was of asters and carnations, also.

Non Drone, twin brother of the bridegroom, acted as his best man, and Rudolph Zirkelbach Jr., Waukegan, nephew of the bridegroom, was his groomsman. Theodore Drone, and Aaron Drone, brothers of the bridegroom, were ushers.

The bride's mother wore a dress of autumn brown with brown and beige accessories. Her corsage was of bronze chrysanthemums.

The mother of the bridegroom chose for her son's wedding a powder blue dress and hat, worn with black accessories. She wore a yellow chrysanthemum corsage.

There was a wedding breakfast for the members of the bridal party, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray H. Cook, near Eldorado, and a wedding dinner was served in the home of the bride's parents, followed by a reception and dance in the Knights of Columbus hall in the evening.

Following the honeymoon trip, Mr. and Mrs. Drone will be at home to their friends in Ridgway where Mr. Drone is an employee of the Ridgway Lumber company.

Visit Here From Casablanca, Morocco

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Asbell from Casablanca, Morocco, are guests in the home of Mr. Asbell's brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Asbell, 201 East Rose street, Harrisburg, following an absence of nine years. Clarence Asbell has been employed by the Atlas Construction Co., for the past 5 1/2 years, as a heavy duty mechanics foreman. Mrs. Asbell, formerly of Portland, Ore., was a payroll supervisor in Casablanca.

They have been guests in the home of another brother, Davis Asbell of Rosiclare, and a sister, Mrs. Forrest Hutson of Golconda. Their next assignment will be in Tehran, Iran, and will last for approximately five years. When the Asbells leave Harrisburg they plan to visit another sister, Mrs. Olga Bailey, in Iowa for a few days and then go to Portland to visit Mrs. Asbell's parents, before going to Iran.

Virginia was named in honor of Queen Elizabeth I, who was called the Virgin Queen of England.

Social and Personal Items

Presbyterian Fellowship Group Resumes Monthly Meetings

Approximately 50 persons were present at the first meeting of the Fall season of the Presbyterian Fellowship group, Sunday evening. Dinner was served buffet style from a beautifully-decorated table. The fall theme was followed, with dinner partners being selected by the matching of colorful fall leaves.

The food committee, which was highly praised, was made up of Messrs. and Mesdames Ed Martin, Wm. T. Hawkins, Gordon McGehee and Rold Moore.

In the absence of both the chairman, John C. Stump, and the vice chairman, Marion Bradley, Mrs. Richard Webb, secretary-treasurer, presided at a brief business session.

A nominating committee of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. John Utter and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jarrell was appointed.

The food committee for the next meeting, Oct. 21, will be: Mr. and Mrs. Byron Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Feddeler, Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Lamkin and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Teply.

Those in attendance were: Messrs. and Mesdames John L. Jarrell Jr., Charles B. Ford Jr., John C. Wilson, Frank Jarrell, Wayne Dixon, Richard Webb, Byford Wiley, Don Roberts, Byron Moore, Jack Feddeler, John Utter, J. L. Lamkin, Floyd L. Teply, Elvie Gidcumb Jr., Bill Melton, James C. Bellamy, Joseph Hollingsworth, Harry Moore and the Rev. William Burroughs, and the food committee.

Rev. Burroughs continued the series, "The World's Great Religions," the subject being "Buddhism." An accompanying film strip was very colorful and enlightening. This series is to be continued.

Miss Earlene Mitchler is recuperating from surgery in the home of her mother, Mrs. James P. Mitchler, 810 South Granger street, Harrisburg. Miss Mitchler is pay roll manager for the Chicago Wesley Memorial hospital. She arrived in Harrisburg Sunday.

Michael H. Bacon, 3 West South street, Harrisburg, returned to Vanderbilt University at Nashville, Tenn., Monday, to resume his course in pre-medicine. He is a student in the sophomore class at the university.

Mrs. Tessie Erwin, widow of the late Jess Erwin, who is an arthritic patient at Levi Memorial hospital, Hot Springs, Ark., was visited last week by Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Wasson, Harrisburg, while on a vacation trip. They found her much improved.

A total of 894,575 persons visited Mount Rushmore National Memorial, in South Dakota, during 1956.

Home Bureau Meeting Will Feature Handicrafts

Beginning at 10 a. m. Friday, handicraft articles will be exhibited in the First Presbyterian church as a part of the annual meeting program for the Saline County Home Bureau. It is suggested that each unit bring a card table to hold some of its exhibits. Space before and in the rear of the table will be available for displays also. The preparation of the booths will begin at 9 a. m. and space will be allotted to each unit for its display. Judging will begin at 10 a. m. and $5 will be awarded for the most interesting display.

The potluck luncheon will be spread at 11:30 a. m. and the units will duplicate a planned menu. Each member will bring her own table service.

There will be a program and business meeting at 1 p. m. and Miss Jeanette Dean will speak on "India."

C. And Turner's Sisters Visiting In Harrisburg.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Probasco, Coral Gables, Fla., Mr. and Mrs. Claude Litteral and Mrs. Walter Stacey, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., are guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Aud Turner, 101 East Gaskins street, Harrisburg.

Mrs. Probasco, Mrs. Litteral and Mrs. Stacey are sisters of Mr. Turner and the visit is a kind of family reunion, with the time being spent generally in the home in an atmosphere of relaxed visiting and companionship.

The guests arrived Saturday and expect to be in Harrisburg for several days.

Fifty per cent of all marketed gas is used in the states where it is produced.

Honor Grace Kelly

NEW YORK, Sept. 24 (E.N.)—According to a report heard over WQXR, the radio station of the New York Times, the Consul General of Monaco reports "the Grace Kelly wedding stamps are completely sold out."—However, these stamps may be obtained from the Elmont Stamp Co.

Because the Wedding set has evoked a lively interest in stamps of Monaco, Elmont's Paris Office has prepared a collection containing the complete GRACE KELLY postage set of five stamps, the large-sized diamond Olympic set of six, and the recent Monacan set of four honoring Presidents Washington, Lincoln, Roosevelt and Eisenhower: a total of 15 mint stamps for just $1.00 to introduce Elmont's approval service.

This is the

"It puts shifting where it belongs"

Edsel
Teletouch Drive
lets you shift without lifting a hand
from the wheel

You can drive the Edsel—park it—reverse it—rock it—while both hands stay at the wheel. For Edsel's exclusive Teletouch Drive puts the shift controls right where they belong: in the center of the steering wheel.

And all shifting, even into park position, is effortless, because the Edsel actually shifts itself. The Teletouch Drive button you touch signals a rugged, precision "brain," and it does the work—smoothly, surely, electrically.

You'll find the entire Edsel is as original and advanced as Teletouch. The Edsel's elegant lines, its vertical grille and low, wide flight deck promise you that, wide flight deck promise you that, and the big Edsel V-8's—newest in the world—prove it beyond a doubt. See your Edsel Dealer for a road-test. Edsel prices range from just above the lowest to just below the highest. You can afford an Edsel. And you can choose from four series, 18 models.

Braves, Yankees Win Pennants

Milwaukee Beats Cards, 4-2, in 11 Innings; A's Win Flag for New York

By United Press
The Milwaukee Braves took the National League pennant west for the first time in a decade today while the New York Yankees added an eighth American League flag to Casey Stengel's golden nine-year regime.

The races ended but 10 minutes apart Monday night when a two-run homer by Hank Aaron gave the Braves a 4-2, 11-inning clincher over the St. Louis Cardinals and the Kansas City Athletics dealt the Chicago White Sox their knockout blow with a 6-5 triumph.

The long-frustrated Braves thus enjoyed the thrill of clinching their flag themselves while the blase Yankees, who spent the night at the Basilio-Robinson fight, clinched by proxy. The Athletics have so many ex-Yankees that they often are referred to as the world champions' "second-stringers."

The Braves became the first western team to win a National League flag since the Cardinals won in 1946 when Aaron's 43rd homer of the year, a 405-foot shot over the center field fence, followed a single by Johnny Logan.

A crowd of 40,926 at County Stadium saw the Milwaukee dream come true after a tense 3-hour and 33-minute struggle in which Stan Musial staged a one-man war against the Braves.

Now Hitting .349
Battling to keep the Cardinals "alive," the 36-year-old Musial had two doubles and a single in four tries to raise his average to .349. One of the doubles followed a single by Wally Moon and two runs scored to put St. Louis ahead, 2-1, when Al Dark singled with two out.

Larry Jackson, who relieved Vinegar Bend Mizell in the second inning, protected the lead until the seventh when Red Schoendienst singled, Logan sacrificed an Ed Mathews doubled. The score remained that way until the 11th when Aaron's blow finally put the egg in all Milwaukee's beer.

Gene Conley, who took over after starter Lew Burdette was removed for a pinch-hitter in the 10th, retired the only three batters he faced to gain credit for his ninth victory. Billy Muffet, who hurled the final 2-3 innings for St. Louis, suffered his second loss.

The Athletics ended the White Sox's last hopes for a miracle when pinch-hitter Bob Cerv, an ex-Yankee, delivered a 410-foot sacrifice fly that brought in the winning run in the eighth inning. The bases had been filled on a double by Hector Lopez. Hal Smith's infield hit and a walk to Billy Hunter after the White Sox rallied for two runs in both the sixth and seventh innings to gain a 5-5 tie.

Homers Prove Margin
Homers by Woody Held, pitcher Alex Kellner and Gus Zernial had lifted the Athletics to an early 5-1 lead but Minnie Minoso drove in three runs and Jim Landis hit a key triple as the White Sox fought back.

The 66-year-old Stengel's eighth pennant enabled him to tie Hall of Famer Joe McCarthy's Yankee record and left him one flag behind the American League mark set by Connie Mack. The major league record of 10 pennants is held by John McGraw. The pennant was the 23rd in the Yankees' fabulous success story which began in 1921.

The Boston Red Sox defeated the Washington Senators, 9-4, before a crowd that included Vice President Richard Nixon and the Cleveland Indians scored an 11-inning, 5-4 victory over the Detroit Tigers in the only other games of the day or night.

Frank Malzone drove in four runs, Jackie Jensen knocked in three and Ted Williams went 1-for-1 to raise his average to .385 as Mike Fornieles won his 10th game for the Red Sox. Williams walked three times and was hit by a pitched ball so now has had four homers, two singles, nine walks and been hit by a pitch in 16 consecutive tries.

Dick Brown singled home his winning run for the Indians as Cal McLish won his ninth game and Jim Bunning failed in his bid for his 20th win.

Bull Pups Lose To Marion, 45-6

Marion drubbed the Harrisburg Bull Pups, 45 to 6, in a freshman-sophomore football game played Monday night at Marion.

The Wildkittens started their scoring early, Steward running the opening kickoff 90 yards for a touchdown, and they pushed across another touchdown in the first period before Harrisburg scored on a 50-yard pass play, Larry Wise to Roger Aldridge.

Marion scored again in the first quarter on a short pass to lead, 19 to 6, at the end of the period. Next Marion tally came in the second period when a Marion player grabbed a Harrisburg fumble and ran 30 yards to score. In the third period Marion scored once, on a 20-yard run and led 33-6 at the end of the quarter.

Marion added two more tallies in the fourth quarter on jaunts of 44 and four yards.

The Bull Pups will play Eldorado here next Monday night.

Carmen Basilio Wins Middleweight Title from Sugar Ray Robinson

Probably Will Meet in Return Fight in 6 Months

NEW YORK—Carmen Basilio, who won the world middleweight championship from Sugar Ray Robinson in 15 violent rounds Monday night, will meet ex-champion Ray in a return title fight within six months, it seemed nearly certain today.

Basilio, the ex-onion farmer of Chittenango, N. Y., who pounded out a split decision over the ancient but amazing Robinson, said, "I'll be ready to honor my return-bout contract within six months."

And Robinson's most trusted advisor, George Gainford, declared today "Yes, I'd like to see Ray fight Basilio for the title again, if we can get assurances from the boxing commission that the New York state law against the use of colloid iodine ointment will be carried out."

Gainford, principal handler in Robinson's corner during the electrifying battle before 38,000 in Yankee Stadium, complained to referee Al Berl five times against use of the ointment on Basilio's bleeding left brow, because it was getting into Robinson's eyes and pain him.

Considered Tip-Off
Although Robinson told reporters he would require four or five days to decide whether to fight Basilio again or to retire, Gainford's statement was interpreted by Sugar Ray's friends as the tip-off to a return brawl.

Thirty-seven-year-old Robinson has a pre-fight contract with Basilio, calling for a return shot at the title within 90 days or at a mutually agreeable time thereafter.

Carmen's own welterweight crown was not at stake Monday night; but the title was vacated automatically the instant his hand was raised in victory as new middleweight champion, by state law. Whether the N. Y. State Athletic Commission could make some exception, should Robinson unexpectedly retire and should Basilio prefer to keep the welter title—is a matter of conjecture.

Basilio, who almost retired in despair six years ago because of ring reverses, triumphed heroically Monday night in the greatest fight of his life—and one of the most thrilling ever staged in any ring.

The betting was at "even money" when they squared off, and it was a "zigzag" conflict in which each was staggered several times and each appeared on the verge of a knockout at least once. In the bloody eleventh session, Robinson—bleeding from the nose—was stunned by a right to the head and then battered nearly a minute on the ropes. In the 13th, Basilio may have been saved by the bell, after a left hook buckled his knees and a barrage to the head left him lurching about crazily and ready to fall. But neither of the rugged champions went to the canvas once.

6½-Pound Edge
Basilio, weighing 153½ pounds to Robinson's 160, forced the fighting in every round against his heavier and rangier opponent. Before the struggle was finished, Carmen was bleeding from two gashes over his left eye and from the nose and there was a large mouse under his right eye. But he was still forcing the fight and he won the last round on the cards of all three ring officials.

Meanwhile, Sugar Ray—fighting

defensively and trying to catch his shorter opponent with uppercuts and left hooks as he came in—made such a gallant stand that referee Al Berl voted him the fight on a rounds basis, 9-6.

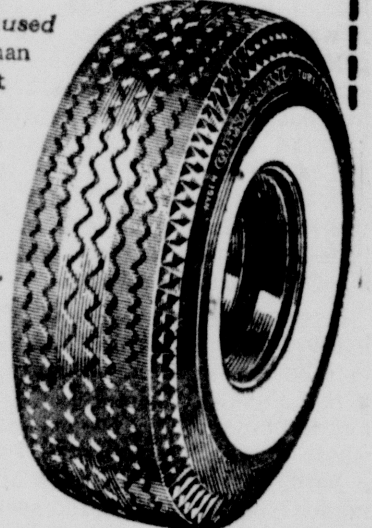

But Judges Artie Aidala and Bill Recht favored Basilio respectively, 9-5-1 and 8-6-1. The United Press agreed, 9-6. A poll of 47 sports writers at the ringside showed 26 for Basilio, 17 for Robinson and four "even."

XXXIII
The black hump of north ridge grew. Ahead, the creek bed hooked and I knew it was time to pull out. I held up and reined over the bank. Then the gelding ran loose and free on the prairie again and I felt the fire at my heels. The horse still ran strong and I felt good about that. A half mile now, a half mile of grass and then the slope. I looked east and I could see the road where it broke into The Narrows. There was a man there, standing by a horse, far away black spots on the gray. I hoped it was Blanchard, stopped for some reason of his own and giving me a little more time. I thought about heading that way, then decided I wouldn't. It was a long way and maybe it wasn't Blanchard.

I felt the gelding's head drop and I groaned and got ready. A hole, I thought, but then I knew it wasn't. Just the slope and the gelding was pounding up, his head staying down and his neck reaching out and his back hunching. I heard his hard breathing and jerked the reins and got him stopped. I wanted to blow him a little while I took a good look at my back trail, remembering another night ride on the prairie.

It came at me then, all of it, big and ugly. No prairie dog holes to take my mind off it and just a few minutes' time between me and the basin. Cole Jethroe somewhere around in the night. I had a hard, scratchy feeling of being mighty young. A wet-eared sprout, scared of the dark.

Near the crest the slope flattened. Then I could see the south ridge against the sky, the line of it at the top bright with moon. Then the basin and the river came under my eyes and I swung east without looking too hard. I pulled up and then held the gelding on the crest.

I'd expected buffaloes across the river. They were there, many bunches of two or three hundred spread over the basin grass, dust stirring in moving clouds where they wallowed, grunting sounds rising and dropping and carrying around the basin as the bulls pawed in the night.

I heard men yelling and sharp noises with rolling echoes that had to be guns.

Then, slow, the cloud of dust started rolling east along the river. I looked east, hoping to see Blanchard. The Narrows hung in deep shadow and I couldn't see into it. I decided I'd have to take a chance and head into The Narrows, hoping to find him in the dark. And nobody else.

Then I saw the patch of black on the prairie close to the line of shadow from The Narrows on the near side of the river. A rock outcrop, I thought at first. But I knew that place. Not on the flat so close to the river. A man then, maybe a dead one.

I thought of Blanchard and groaned, thinking I was too late. I turned and looked west. The dust cloud rolled faster and the sound was stronger with a rumble of it now coming up through the sod to me. I could see the bobbing of some buffaloes in the lead of the bunch, running hard with heads down. I couldn't see riders but I heard them, their crazy yells and gunfire coming closer, every second moving all of it nearer to The Narrows, nearer the black patch on the sod.

I knew who was down there on the prairie then. Sure of it, I was Not Blanchard. No dead man, either. It was Pete Dorsey, alive, but held in the thin strip between the slope and the river, the stampeding herd coming at him through the night. I was glad it wasn't Blanchard. I wanted to feel sad because it was Dorsey, going to die in a bad way.

A horse and rider broke out of the shadow in The Narrows. I guessed it was Blanchard riding hard, bent low over the horse, pointing for Dorsey. My eyes held to the sight.

Sitting on the ridge, I was on top of it all, out of it. Safe, out of the way. I could feel the death riding under the boiling dust but it couldn't touch me. I didn't think it was wrong to be glad, just a little, that another man was going to die when it could have been me. I thought that and remembered that Blanchard was down there and if Dorsey died under the herd, Blanchard died, too. If I went down...

The end of it all was there in the basin under my eyes and I was sure. The end before a herd of crazy-running buffaloes. Dorsey's end, Blanchard's too, and mine if I went down. It was laid out for me in black and gray shapes and I couldn't keep it out of my eyes. I knew I could never see it any other way than I saw it now and I'd remember until the day I died and I'd turn it over and over in my mind, the way it was.

But maybe it was already over. The herd was running and there was no stopping it. The Clements had won and Cole Jethroe had won and we'd lost, me and Blanchard. It didn't seem like Blanchard would want me to die if we'd already lost.

But then it came to me in the clearest, biggest, blackest shape of all, that it didn't matter that we'd lost. I'd already come too far. I had to go farther or all of it was no good, just a little boy building a castle in the mud and then jumping on it, crushing it, losing it. You had to go all the way or it was wasted. Blanchard was down there and he needed me. The dying didn't matter.

I thought, when would a man like me get a chance to die in better company?

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D. D.
(Written for NEA Service)

A great deal of human energy is wasted in our movement through life. We seldom give this waste much thought until we discover ways of using small amounts of this energy to accomplish the same results as we accomplished with much effort. After such an experience we pause and wonder why we wasted so much effort doing things the hard way.

Our lack of spiritual development results largely from poor habits. We are self-satisfied with our ways of sin. Other people are much worse than we are. By comparison we do not think we are so bad. We do not give change a thought.

We do as we please without realizing the examples we are setting for others. We turn away from God by merely veering toward selfishness or by enjoying a little lewdness, a bit of hatred or a smattering of gossip. We are wasting our spiritual assets instead of finding an easier way through God.

"LITTLE BIG INCH" GOES BACK TO SERVICE as petroleum products pipeline

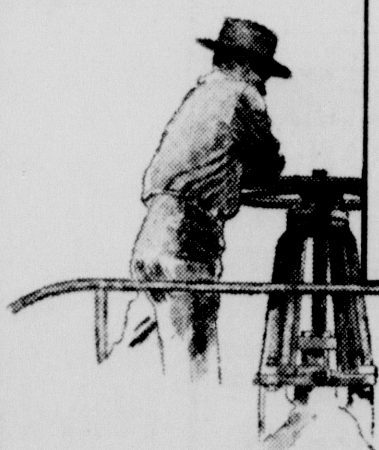

Texas Eastern's "Little Big Inch" (20-inch) pipeline is returning to the vital job it did during World War II... the efficient, economical transportation of clean petroleum products.

Eleven hundred and sixty-eight miles of the "Little Big Inch" from Baytown, Texas, to Moundsville, West Virginia, is being reconverted from natural gas transmission to the original service for which it was built. This portion of the line is to become part of a 1700-mile system that will include a 230-mile (14-inch) lateral from Seymour, Indiana, to Chicago, now nearing completion.

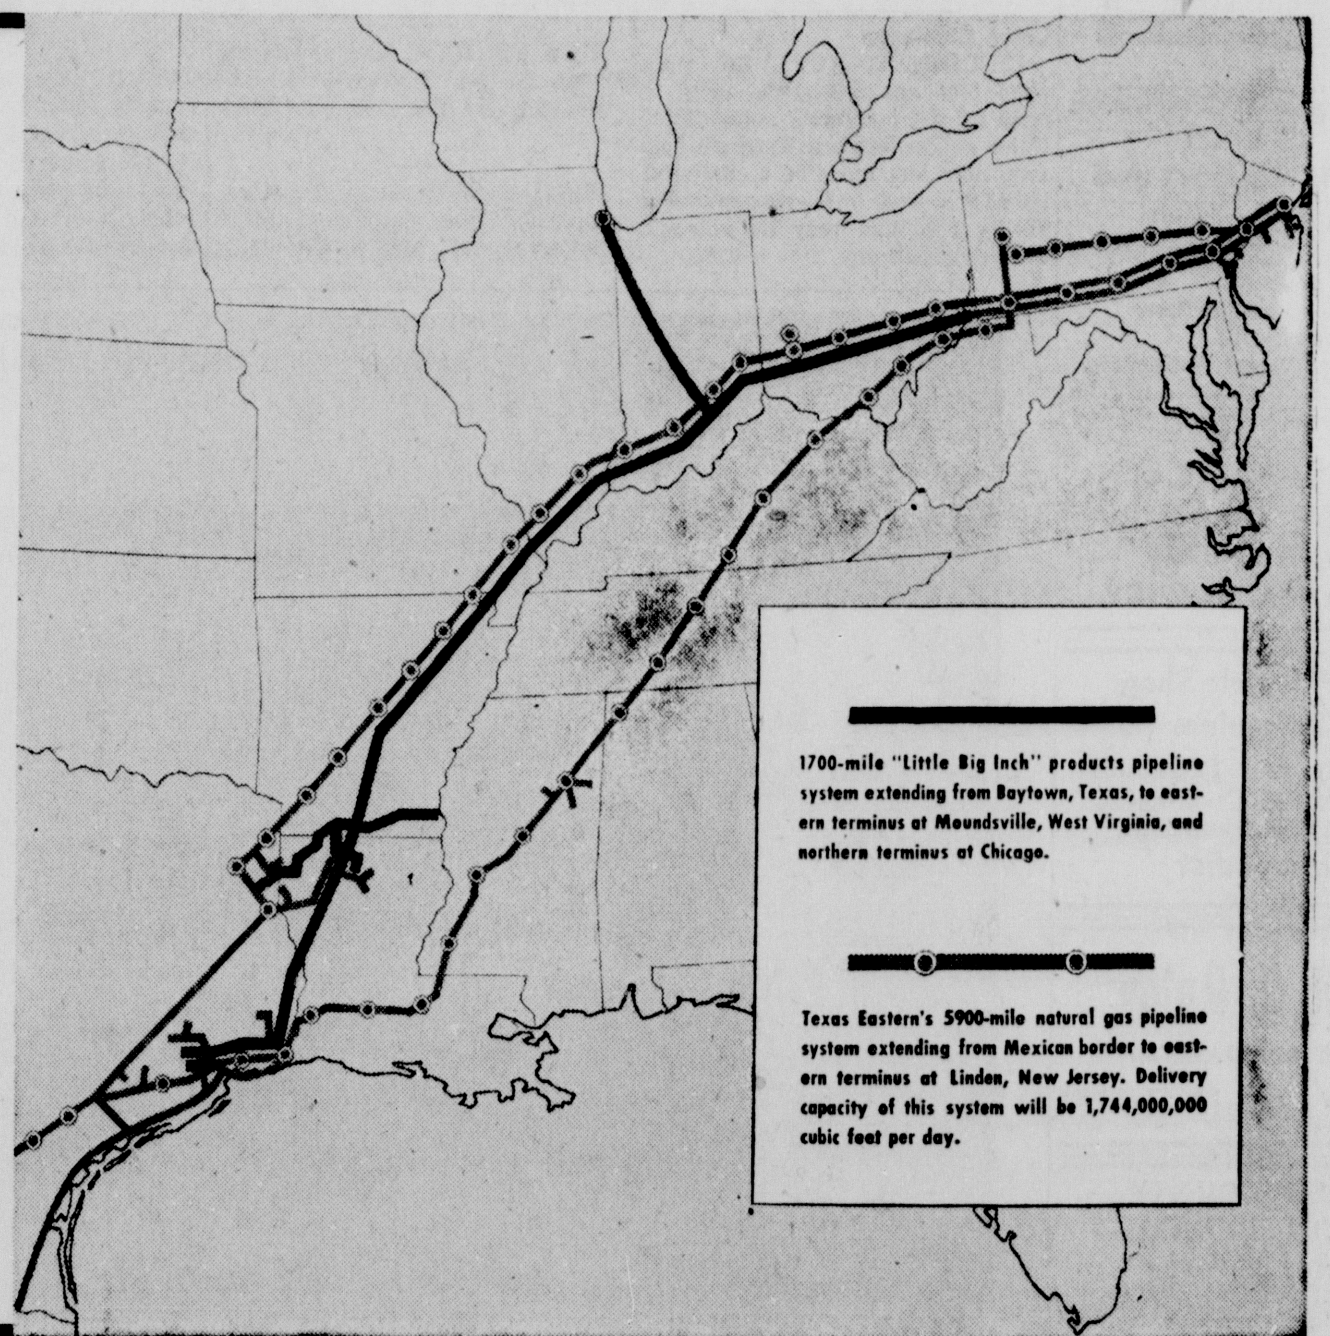

The new "Little Big Inch" system will be the longest large diameter common carrier of petroleum products in the United States. It will connect the world's largest refining capacity (refineries in the Gulf Coast, East Texas, North Louisiana, South Arkansas and Mid-Continent areas) with markets in 13 Midwestern and Southern states.

The "Little Big Inch" system will deliver all grades of aviation and motor gasoline, kerosene, heating oils, diesel and jet engine fuels, and liquefied butane and propane... and do it regularly, on schedule regardless of weather, and at a substantial saving over other transportation methods.

New facilities will assure continuing deliveries of supplies of natural gas to all of Texas Eastern's customers who are presently being served through the "Little Big Inch" pipeline system. In addition, new construction will increase the delivery capacity of Texas Eastern's 5900-mile natural gas transmission system to over 1,744,000,000 cubic feet per day by year end.
